

ABSTRACT

The information recording apparatus is at least provided with an identification means 12 for reading the utilization license information from the recording medium, and for identifying whether the recording medium is a recording medium for which the utilization of the music data is permitted, the music data obtaining means 13 for connecting to the server through the communication network, and for requiring the download of the music data to the server, an input output means 11 for selecting the musical composition or for reproducing the music data, and a data recording means 18 for recording the downloaded music data in the recording medium, and without complicated operation, the music data can simply be recorded in the recording medium.